

STRENGTHENING OUR SKILLS TO BENEFIT OUR STUDENTS

presented by Dan Petro, Behaviour Analyst

FRIDAY 13 MARCH 2020

9:30am - 3:00pm

The Carrington, 505 Wyndham Street, Shepparton

Overview

Being a teacher, specialist, school leader, or providing valuable classroom support in a contemporary world requires the use of effective instructional practices that utilise available resources.

During this one-day workshop participants will be provided with evidence-based practices that focus on teaching as a means of promoting student academic and social development.

Major themes with practical application examples covered include:

- The Art of Giving Directions
- Data Based Decision Making
- Understanding and Using Reinforcement
- Strengthening Relationships with Students
- Implementing Effective Problem Prevention Practices
- Understanding Behavioural Functions Related to Interventions
- Coordinating a Behavioural Approach Within a Strong Framework
- Responding Correctly when Students do the Right and Wrong Thing

Who to send:

Anyone who works with students e.g., school leaders, classroom teachers, learning support officers, experienced staff new to your school and those returning to teaching.

Who to contact if needed:

If you have questions please contact your Pastoral Wellbeing Education Officer or Frances Browne - E: fbrowne@ceosand.catholic.edu.au.

Registrations close at 4pm on Friday 6 March 2020.

Please click on the link to register:

www.ceosand.catholic.edu.au/news/professional-learning